

Dear Reader,

My name is Dmitry and I am from Yakutia, the coldest inhabited region on Earth. I am a passionate frontend developer with 10 years of experience in various stacks and I am eager to apply for this position. Currently using ReactJS + TailwindCSS, I have extensive experience in building user-friendly and responsive web applications. This experience has led to a deep interest in the entire development cycle, including server-side logic and database management. Focused on developing these skills further and contributing to projects, collaborating with both front-end and back-end teams to deliver end-to-end solutions.

Previously I used various stack environments including: jQuery, Bootstrap, ASP.NET, Python. I do not consider myself a strong Backend Developer, but I know how to work a little with Node.js, Flask, MongoDB, SQL.

A mathematical mind and the ability to analyze and then apply various methods gave me a lot of successful work experience. I am motivated by the desire to improve my knowledge in the field of programming by helping other people. I love to implement ideas into reality. Yes, it is difficult, but people who grew up in difficult environmental conditions, for example, like me - Yakut people, develop psychological resilience, which helps us maintain a positive attitude towards everything. We persistently strive to achieve our goals, understanding that success takes time and effort. We value mutual assistance and care for others - important aspects that form mutual respect.

And last but not least. I fully share the culture of your company, which provides equal opportunities to all employees and adheres to sustainable development. That is why I will be glad to become a part of your team. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to hearing from you soon!
